

I am very much opposed to limiting any service provided by XM Radio. If you had done your job in the first place, there would be no XM Radio because there would still be diversity in radio broadcasting. Instead, we have plain vanilla on thousands of stations all through the country. Let the market decide what XM Radio should broadcast. The reason XM is so popular is that commercial radio is so bad. That's your fault. You have shown yourselves unable or unwilling to fix the problem, so don't make it worse by restricting XM.